Terms of Agreement

- The author(s) grant their exclusive consent and authorization to The Okantey Group Inc (OGI) to publish the final edited version of this article, at any point in time, in any known current or future format, in any locale with OGI maintaining the right to edit and format the article in line with its goals and objectives. The permission granted will be in perpetuity.
- The author(s) grant OGI an exclusive license to reproduce, reprint and distribute this article, in whole or in part, in primary and secondary reference materials including but not limited to textbooks, journals, research services and any other published and/or electronic formats. The author(s) also grant permission to OGI to publish the submitted article on the OGI website.
- The author(s) must acknowledge that it is up to the sole discretion of OGI to publish the article and that the author(s) will not receive any royalty or other form of compensation for the publication of the article.
- The authors confirm that all necessary permission has been obtained from the relevant copyright holders with regard to all pieces of information and data not exclusively owned by the authors. Furthermore the authors confirm to OGI that the article is factually accurate, does not infringe upon any existing copyright or trademark, proprietary, or personal rights of others, nor include exploitation of any entity or product.
- The authors acknowledge that the publication in which this article is published will be copyrighted by OGI.
